Alice Lucile Rhoda Black Massey lives in San Leandro and her story is hiding in the Dudelsacher. Can you find it? She's the baby of the 1st generation Rhodas. Lulu adores her newset grandchild Ed. He calls himself "E" and can't say Grandma so calls her "Jaguar."

CLIMB MT. RHODA

CLIMB MT. RHODA

Have you ever been to Durango, Colo.? It's a beautiful place. After you arrive and are over the wonder of this scenic spot, drive 20 miles up the road toward Ourey. That is the name of an Indian Chief who used this diamond in the continental divide for a summer place. Enroute to Ourey turn off on the road to Silverton. Four miles southeast of Silverton you will see a 13,402 foot mountain. That is Mt. Rhoda. Now you can climb it. Actually we are planning to make a family assault in 1986 July. We will be led by Mike Foster and Don Myrah and Dave Vieira are heading up the party. Sign up with them. The oldies plan to be airlifted atop by helicopter. Come join us.

SUMMITS TO REACH

LUCILLE'S CHILDREN

Lucile Rhoda Black Massey was 78 last June and is the youngest of the original Rhodas. She retired from nursing in 1980 and moved to Santa Cruz. She lived in a mobile home there for 3 years. She loved the climate, fresh air and ocean but missed being closer to her family. So in 1984 she moved to San Leandro to be near her son Rick, his wife Laura and her grandson Ed. They are all in the process of planning a new move to Placerville area. Lu is in good health, loves her cat "Samoy," still keeps current her nursing license by continued education classes. She loves to swim whenever she gets a chance but hasn't swum around the Santa Cruz wharf for awhile. She plays her piano on occasions.

Marjie, Lucile's first daughter is busy working 2 jobs. She recently got her Real Estate Sales license and works days at R.E.P. in Fremont, Calif. 3P.M. to 11:30 P.M. she works at the hospital full time. Marg became a widow a couple of years ago when her husband Bill Brown died. Her son Bob, 22, is employed in the San Jose area working on computers and he loves it. He recently moved into his own apartment.

Don Black is busy with his own tile business and is currently doing the "Blackhawk" homes in Danville. He lives on 50 acres on top of Black Mountain with wife Frances and step-son Chuck. He has turned into quite a farmer. He has horses, cows, chickens, goats, etc. Don's daughter Linda died in an auto accident a few years ago.

Nancy Black Kistle works in a hospital nursing days in Fremont. Her husband Rich owns a meat market in Ben Lomond. Both have been busy buying and selling antique furniture. Nancy's oldest, Lesa, 26, is marrying Eric, a veterinarian, on Sept. 22, 1984. They will live in Acampo near Lodi, Calif. She manages a horse ranch and horses are Eric's speciality too.

Rory Ornellas, 24, lives in a mobile home on Uncle Don's hill. He works for him too in the tile trade.

Chris Ornellas, 21, recently moved to Chico to attend Chico State and complete a degree in business. All this leaves Nancy with an empty nest but she's not complaining. She says her place stays cleaner and she has less food to buy! Alone at last.

LOIS & BESS

Lois Dahlstrom Johnson and husband Bert still live in Sacramento on 4th Ave. Bert is retired but Lois works at McClelland Air Force Base. She has a new lady boss. Lois became a grandma one year ago and is enjoying it all very much. Baby Kirsten Grace is a little beauty and a rascal. Lois is Past-President two times of her Sweet Adelines Camellia City group. She has been honored many times for leadership efforts for the betterment of her city in Mental Health, P.T.A., public schools, business and other areas. I am sure that Lo likes having both of her children settled nearby after all of their wanderings and adventures.

Cris Johnson and wife Jenny both work helping handicapped people in Sacramento. They recently returned from a 3 month vacation travelling all over Europe.

Allison and Don Piccolo have been learning about parenthood this year ever since that robust, independent, darling Kirsten Grace arrived. Don teaches school and Allison is enjoying being a wife and mother. They live in Fair Oaks, Calif.

Carolyn Dahlstrom Seger, M.A. teaches and practices Recreational Therapy for the V.A. Hospital in Santa Clara County, Calif. The hospital purchased a special bus just for her use. They provide a driver and an assistant and off she goes three times a week on wild jaunts to everywhere. She led her blind group on foot across the Golden Gate Bridge and to China Town for Chow Mein. She took the deaf to the Rock Concert and to the ocean and beach. She takes her psycho-drug-alcoholic patients swimming, sailing, to the aquarium and to nursery school. You name it she'll do it, and they all love it and ask for more. Carol just returned from Switzerland and France; last year it was Tahiti. She signed Pauline, Lois, and Grace up for a Shakespearean course and then routed us all up to Ashland to see 7 plays in 5 days. Hoopla! Hoorah! To relax she heads for Sebastapool and the mudbaths. Hal is in Heaven nodding his approval, dear guy. Go for it Carol. Her 4 children are busy too!

Carol and Sid Seger-Smith are making money hand over fist. You should have seen Sid cook for all 24 at the annual Seger Santa Cruz Campout this summer. Sid has 3 nice children whom the whole family have happily adopted.

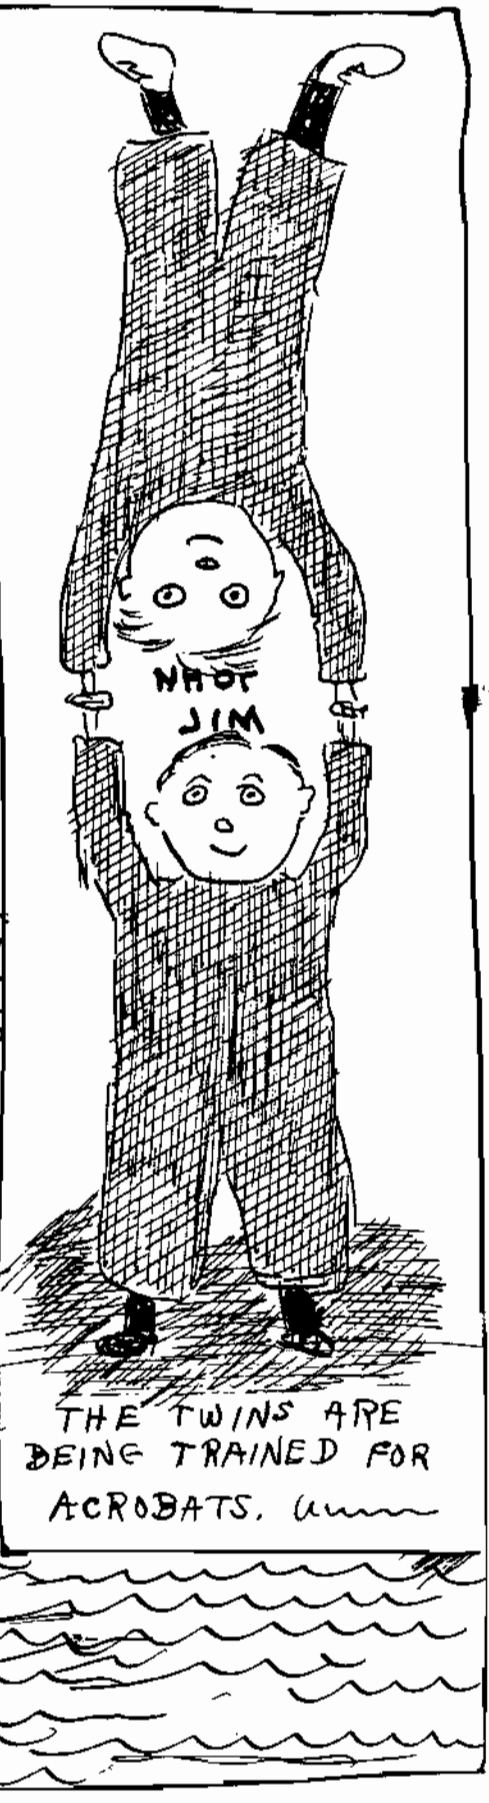

Vivian and Bryan Ward are in the Air Force near Suisun, Calif. In January they were blessed with a healthy baby boy, Russell, (Carolyn's first grandchild). Russel is now crawling, sitting, teething, and growing. He's a fine big happy boy.

Lorraine Seger is taking Organic Chemistry and Algebra in college and doing well. Ask her how she foiled the cheaters. Good going, Rain. L. is tall, slender, and a beautiful redhead but temperamental--so handle with care. She'd better select a strong, mature, intelligent male so she'll keep interested. We love her.

Richard Seger has grown up to be a very handsome, pleasant, thoughtful, mature young man. Your father would be very pleased Rich as we all are. One problem though: the phone keeps ringing off the hook. All the girls are crazy about him. Easy does it, Rich.
